TEXT OF THE TREATY

onferred full power and authority upon their espectively appointed plenipotentiaries, to wit The President of the United States of Amer-The President of the United States of America, John W. Foster, Secretary of State of the United States, and the president of the executive and advisory councils of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islanda, Lorrin A. Thurston, William R. Castle, William C. Wilder, Charles L. Carter and Joseph Marsden.

And the said plenipotentiaries, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

The government of the Hawaiian Islands hereby cedes, from the date of the exchange of the ratifications of this treaty, absolutely and without reserve to the United States forever all rights of sovereignty of whatsoever kind in and over the Hawaiian Islands and their dependencies, rencuncing in favor of the United States every sovereign right of which as an independent nation it is now possessed; and henceforth said Hawaiian Islands and every island and key thereunto appertaining, and each and every portion thereof, shall become and be an integral part of the territory of the United States.

ARTICLE II.

cedes and transfers to the United States the absolute fee and ownership of all public, government or crowrlands, public buildings or edifices, ports, harbors, fortifications, military or naval equipments and all other public property of every kind and description belonging to the government of the Hawaiian Islands, together with every right and appurtanance thereunto appertaining. The existing laws of the United States relative to public lands shall not apply to such lands in the Hawaiian Islands, but the Congress of the United States shall enact special laws for their management and disposition; provided, that all revenue from or proceeds of the same, except as regards such part thereof as may be used or occupied for the civil, military or naval purposes of the United States or may be assigned to the use of the local government, shall be used solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands for educational and other public purposes.

provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands on the other, and the ratifications thereof shall be exchanged at Honolulu as soon as possible. Such exchange shall be made on the part of the United States by the commissioner hereinbefore provided for, and it shall operate as a complete and final conveyance to the United States of all the rights of sovereignty and property herein ceded to them. Within one month after such exchange of ratifications the provisional government shall furnish said commissioner with a full and complete schedule of all the public property herein ceded and transferred.

In winess whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the above articles and have hereunto affixed their scals.

NO DOUBT OF PALIFICATION.

There is practically no doubt felt by Senators who are thoroughly informed on the subject that the Hawaiian treaty of annexation will be promptly ratified by the Senate. There does not seem to be any reason to expect trouble about the ratification by the provisional government of Hawaii, and the annexation is regarded as good as accomplished. The acquisition of the territory will be accomplished without reference of the mittee on inaugural ceremonies, which is to take place on March 4, 1898, can be windows of this room the inaugural parade, which is to take place on March 4, 1898, can be provisional government of Hawaii, and the annexation is regarded as good as accomplished. A BEARER OF SPECIAL DISPATCHES.

The Hawalian commissioners were joined last night by Mr. Chas, H. Cooke, who came from Hawali as a special mersenger bearing important dispatches from the provisional government to the commissioners.

Mr. Cooke is one of the successful business men of Honolulu, and carrise on an extensive lumber trade. He is a native of the islands, his parents having emigrated there from New York state. He said last night:

"The natives are going to take kindly to annexation. They are an affectionate, gentle race, and there will be no ill-feeling on their part on account of the change. The queen is staying at Washington Place, a handsone house that was left her by her husband, Mr. Dominis, who was an American. She has a guard of sixteen paid off and discharged by the provisional government."
